Intern,

Saaksham Foundation

May 2010 – July 2010

- Saaksham Foundation is an NGO focused on addressing gross violations of child rights and human rights in the state of Uttar Pradesh in India. My role and responsibilities included spreading awareness and sensitizing children at the grass-roots level and the rural areas about the child rights and interacting personally with children and their parents and even organize trainings and presentations where I used to explain families of a particular village about Children Rights. I convinced a number of parents to make their children study at least till 16 rather than make them work or join their respective family occupation at a young age.

Citizen Journalist,

Merinews (An online news website)

June 2008- July 2009

- Articles written for the website covered socio-economic issues such as economic and political conditions prevailing in Uttar Pradesh and I also worked with some state government companies studying their reports which were published to suggest changes in terms of their strategy and approach undertaken on an issue before.
